

Headroom from mixing implementations within a family; the dashed line is the 5% continue threshold over the best uniform implementation over the best of every simple baseline

